18. 다음 글에서 밑줄 친 they가 가리키는 대상이 다른 것은?

Geckos are the smallest types of lizards. They are only about one inch long. Geckos got their name from the frequent chirping and clicking noises ① they make (most reptiles don't make any noises at all). Unlike many other reptiles, ② they frequently live peacefully among humans — probably because they are harmless, ③ they are less threatening because of their small size, and their insect diet is helpful to humans. Geckos have tiny, hair-like coverings on their flattened feet and ④ they make them extraordinary climbers. Geckos are able to grip even very smooth surfaces, and ⑤ they can climb straight up walls and even walk across ceilings.

19. 다음 글에서 밑줄 친 this가 가리키는 것으로 가장 적절한 것은? [1점]

Would you like to learn more about yourself? Do you want to remember the important people and events in your life? If so, this is one way to do it. This is one tool you can use to remind yourself of the individuals and events that are special to you. Its length may be several pages or a few lines. Length does not matter. What matters is your own sense of sincerity. It should be an honest record of your thoughts, wishes, and dreams. It is an important personal document which can, if maintained properly and regularly, become a useful instrument in your development.

- ① poem ② résumé ③ diary
④ biography ⑤ newspaper

20. (A), (B), (C) 각 네모 안에서 어법에 맞는 표현을 골라 짝지은 것으로 가장 적절한 것은?

No president since Franklin D. Roosevelt has held office for more than two terms. Roosevelt served four terms, and after his death during his last term in office, a law (A) restricted/restricting the number of terms a president could serve was passed. This was done because many people feared that an unscrupulous president would take advantage of a lengthy term to permanently install (B) him/himself in office. Today's laws prevent a U.S. president (C) to be/from being elected more than two times.

Americans do tend to be more informal than people from other countries, but there are situations and environments in which formality is needed. ① Some businesses require their employees to wear a uniform or a suit. ② It wouldn't be proper to wear a T-shirt and blue jeans to a job interview. ③ Some of the finest restaurants require a coat and tie. ④ It is common for Americans to wear casual clothing to school and to greet professors by first name. ⑤ Formal wear is required at weddings and funerals, or any other religious events.

23. 다음 글을 쓴 목적으로 가장 적절한 것은?

On May 6, I applied for car insurance with your company by phone. Three days later, I telephoned to extend the insurance so that it could also cover my 21-year-old son, as he would also be using my car. The problem occurred yesterday when I telephoned to make a claim for a minor accident that my son was involved in. I was told my claim was rejected because the policy did not cover my son. I distinctly remember calling to extend the insurance and I enclose a copy of my telephone record which shows that the call was made. I spoke to Ms. Smith. I would like you to investigate this matter and pay the claim.

25. The European traveller in America is struck by two peculiarities: first the extreme similarity of outlook in all parts of the United States, and secondly the passionate desire of each locality to prove that it is peculiar and different from every other. The second of these is, of course, caused by the first. Every place wishes to have something that can be its pride, and so it cherishes whatever is peculiar in the way of geography, history or tradition. The greater the similarity that exists, the more eager becomes the search for _____ that may reduce it.

- ① equality ② humanity ③ convenience
④ uniqueness ⑤ wealth

26. The tsunami killed 38 people in the village of Thung Khamin on Thailand's west coast. In July, just seven months after the tsunami, the Thung Khamin children's library was opened. The Tai Wisdom Association, a group that promotes reading, donated 1,500 new books and will help provide management training for the library staff. Apart from developing a love of learning, the library also tries _____. Most parents in the village work hard and do not spend much time with their children. If the library organizes book-related activities and invites parents and children together, they will have some common issues to share and become closer.

- ① to raise funds ② to rebuild schools
③ to provide job training ④ to offer medical care
⑤ to strengthen family ties

27. Much of our suffering arises not just from our painful condition, but from _____ in the midst of our pain. Many people who suffer from addiction—be it addiction to alcohol, drugs, or food—experience their first relief when they can share their pain with others and feel that they have been truly heard. When I discover that I am no longer alone in my struggle and when I start experiencing a new “fellowship in weakness,” then true joy can erupt, right in the middle of my sorrow. We need to build a community of mutual love where we can discover together that joy is not just for others but for all of us.

*erupt 솟아나다

- ① financial difficulties
② our feeling of isolation
③ too much expectation
④ dependence on others
⑤ the lack of responsibility

28. Today, the oceans are always losing and gaining water in a never-ending process called the water cycle. They lose water when the sun and wind lift tiny particles of moisture from the ocean surface. These invisible particles of water vapor mix with air. If the air cools, vapor particles join up as water droplets that form clouds. Clouds shed rain or snow and most of it, in fact 77 percent of all precipitation, falls directly back over the sea. Rain water and melted snow that fall on land run into rivers flowing back into the sea. Thus, the oceans _____. *particle 입자

29. taro에 관한 다음 글의 내용과 일치하는 것은?

Taro is a tropical crop that grows in wet soil. Taro has leaves that are one to two meters long with a long, arrow-shaped blade. The chief food from these plants is the “corm,” an underground stem, which grows to be over a foot long, but leaves are also consumed. Taro corms are roasted, boiled, or baked, and may be made into cakes. The plants rarely have flowers and never set seed, so replanting portions of the corm is the only way to grow this plant. In comparison with potato, taro corm has a higher proportion of protein and calcium; it has a small amount of fat, and is rich in vitamins A and C.

Neil climbed into his bunk bed and leaned back to enjoy his book. He has just started to read when something hit the side of the boat. Neil was thrown across the cabin and against the far wall. The boat was rolling wildly. Neil was on the floor. As he tried to stand up, Neil noticed whales. The whales had punched a huge hole in the boat's side, and water was rushing in. As Neil left the cabin, the water already covered the floorboards. He picked up a knife and cut the ropes to free the small rowboat. The sea was nearly up to the boat's deck.

33. 다음 글에 나타난 필자의 심정으로 가장 적절한 것은?

One rainy day, one of my regular customers came in looking depressed. I asked what the problem was, but he wouldn't reveal any details. He just said he felt like crawling into bed, pulling the sheets up over his head, and staying there forever. I knew exactly how he felt. Before he left, I handed him a bag along with his iced coffee. He looked at me questioningly because he ordered only the coffee. He opened the bag and saw that I had given him his favorite type of doughnut. "It's on me. It's nothing, but I hope it'll help ease your depression," I said. He smiled and thanked me before heading back out into the rain.

Michael Jordan, the best basketball player in the game's history, did not negotiate his contracts, design his uniforms and prepare his travel schedules. He focused his time and energy on what he did best: playing basketball, and let his handlers take care of everything else. Louis Armstrong, a great Jazz musician, did not spend his time selling tickets to his shows and setting up chairs for the audience. He concentrated on his point of brilliance: playing the trumpet. Learning to say no to the non-essentials will give you more time to devote to the things that will truly improve the way you live.

Outside the home, the situation is even worse.

Today's parents must try to control all the new changes that tempt children away from schoolwork. (①) At home, a child may have a room furnished with a stereo, personal computer, and television. (②) Not many young people can resist the urge to listen to a CD, surf the Internet, or watch MTV—especially if it is time to do homework. (③) Children no longer hang out on a neighborhood corner where they can hear Mom or Dad's shout to come in and do homework. (④) Instead, they gather in vast shopping malls, buzzing video arcades, and gleaming fast-food restaurants. (⑤) Parents and school assignments have obvious difficulty competing with such temptations.

36. If you were going to establish a colony in a strange land, whom would you want to take along with you as colonists? It is easy to imagine ships bringing farmers and craftsmen, but many of the first colonists in the New World were neither. Instead, the first settlers were either soldiers or aristocrats looking for wealth or adventure. But they were not used to hard work, and immediately looked to the native people to meet their needs. But the natives were not always cooperative, and so many natives died of diseases that the aristocratic settlers were forced to find replacements. This lack of workers led to slave trade, the buying and selling of people as slaves.

An airplane's wing has a special shape, called an airfoil similar to the above image. This shape keeps the plane up in the air. The bottom of an airfoil is flat, while the top is ① curved. Air flowing past an airfoil breaks up and then meets again behind the wing. So the air going over the top must go ② slower in order to catch up with the air passing beneath. According to Bernui's Law, faster air has lower air pressure. So the air pressure on the top ③ decreases. At the same time, the pressure of the slow-moving air on the ④ bottom of the wing increases. This difference of pressures makes the ⑤ upward movement called lift, which keeps an airplane in the air.

41. When you are introduced, the correct formal greeting is "How do you do?" Then the opposite will likewise say "How do you do?" In addition, there are a few expressions possible under other circumstances and upon other occasions. If you have long heard of a certain lady and you know that she also has heard much of you, you may say when you are introduced to her: "I am very glad to meet you," or "I am delighted to meet you at last!" You must not say you are delighted unless you have reason to be sure that she also is delighted to meet you.

42. Fish don't have eyelids like yours. Your eyelids protect you only when you blink or close your eyes to keep them wet and to wipe away dirt and dust. That kind of protection isn't enough for a fish. Just as you put on a mask when you want to swim around and look at things underwater, so fish eyes have a clear covering that gives them constant protection. Fish don't need eyelids for other reasons. Since fish live in water their eyes are always wet. Also, things move more slowly in water than in air, so fish can dodge most dirt. And even if something does enter their eyes, it's not going fast enough to do much damage.

43. As I think of all the people I've known, those who have been the least happy and the most hostile were those who couldn't see the two sides to an issue. Or they couldn't comprehend that someone else might see the world differently. Conversely, people who understand that the world is not always black and white and that our way is not the only way are almost always the happiest and easiest people to be around. I don't mean that we shouldn't stand up for what's right or protest against what's wrong. Instead, what I'm suggesting is that you plant a seed of doubt in your mind.

44. A dance company was practicing for a new ballet and the leading man held the ballerina incorrectly. The effort looked very ungraceful. The director asked the man whether he wished to repeat the movement. The dancer replied, "No. It's not necessary. Now I know what to do." The failure made the rehearsal a success. The dancer now knew what he had to do. In scientific research, many failures commonly lead to success. The combined unsuccessful experiments of Marie Curie, Alexander Fleming, and Louis Pasteur run into the thousands. It would have been easy for any one of them to give up after the first hundred failures or so, but today we might have no radium, no penicillin, and no pasteurized milk.

【46-48】 두 사람의 대립된 의견을 읽고, 물음에 답하십시오.

Person A For several years now, blogs have been a primary source of information for me. I get a lot of my news and culture and tech information from bloggers whose opinions and experience I come to respect and trust. Even just a year ago, it didn't seem like there was much first-hand parenting information from a father's perspective, but now blogs have helped fill that gap. In addition, I read mostly online political blogs to get my news. I do this because I find that the mainstream media is unfair in dealing with many subjects whereas bloggers tend to pursue stories which the mainstream media rejects at first and then catches up on months later. In my opinion, bloggers already have changed the world!

Person B In 1999 there were some 50 bloggers on the web; today there are more than 23 million. Blogs offer a huge opportunity for disagreement and discussion. On the other hand, many can be inaccurate, hysterical, or just boring. Personally, I had a chance to research on blog. Some of the research, of course, is pointing out the problems of blogging. For example, some students create journals that are full of violence and drugs. Even though the blog is not about that kind of topic, it can't escape the danger of revealing private information. We should be very careful when we post information on blog because private information somehow and suddenly becomes public on the web for all to read and interpret as they wish. Therefore, _____.

46. 위 두 글의 핵심 쟁점으로 가장 적절한 것은?

- ① the role of the mainstream media
- ② the best way to get current news
- ③ whether blogs are good information resources
- ④ how to save teenagers from Internet addiction
- ⑤ what makes a blog popular among teenagers

47. Person B의 빈칸에 들어갈 말로 가장 적절한 것은?

- ① blog is the most effective way to get information
- ② blog cannot be a recommendable alternative media
- ③ teenagers have difficulties overcoming Internet addiction
- ④ blog can solve the problem of revealing private information
- ⑤ mainstream media must do its best to provide reliable news

(A)

The ability to put these desires aside at the workplace is (a) an asset to the organization. Without this ability, a worker's personal tastes no doubt would conflict with those of others. And this conflict would lead to arguing over trivial things such as individual clothing styles and the relative superiority of ethnic foods.

(B)

Nevertheless, avoiding this conflict in the workplace does not mean forgetting (b) what really matters to us in life. To feel we have succeeded in life, we cannot give it up. Otherwise, what have we really accomplished? Those who express satisfaction with their accomplishments know that they can never toss aside (c) their own values that they hold dear. They just display them on their own time.

(C)

A big organization, by definition, must ask its people to put (d) their own individuality aside and work as a group. There is little room for some of the aspects of their life that are most central to them, whether they are religious beliefs or cultural traditions. They should place their work duties before (e) their personal desires.
