4번 다음을 듣고, 남자가 하는 말의 주제로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오.

M: Welcome to the Brainers' Journey! I'm Dr. Britt. Today, let's talk about the benefits of brain-training games like crossword puzzles and Sudoku. According to a recent study, playing these games on a regular basis helps you improve your focus and memory. In addition, these brain-training games can also help boost your critical thinking skills, which make it easier to solve problems. They keep your brain active, just like exercise does for your body. Spending a little time on puzzles each day could help your brain stay sharp and healthy. Why not give it a try? See you next time on Brainers' Journey!

5번 다음을 듣고, 여자가 하는 말의 목적으로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오.

W: Hello, teachers. I'm Dr. Park, the author of Media in the Future Classroom. Today, I'd like to talk about the positive effects of using media on education and encourage teachers to use media in their teaching. First, it can enhance active participation and responsibility in students' learning. When students access educational content through digital platforms, they become more motivated to explore subjects and complete tasks. Additionally, media use can improve students' communication abilities and promote cooperation skills, as many platforms encourage teamwork and sharing ideas. By adopting media in teaching, the students will learn better in and outside of the classroom. Please try to make more chances to utilize media in the classroom. Thank you.

M: Exactly! I see you remember.

W: I'm done with those. I mastered them back in middle school.

M: When it comes to the basics, you can never train enough.

W: Understood. Maybe that's why I haven't seen any progress these days.

M: Practicing the basics can be boring. But you should make it a daily routine to improve your skills.

M: Really? How does it help?

W: It's a form of therapy. It gives you time to reflect on yourself and move on from your troubles.

M: Okay, that makes sense.

W: Also, it helps you overcome your negative feelings and become calm again.

【19-20】 다음을 듣고, 물음에 답하십시오.

M: Hello, everyone. I'm Dr. Kim from the Research Institute for Marketing Psychology. Today, I'm going to talk about how music can affect consumer behaviors depending on its genre. First, classical music is often related to luxury, leading consumers to buy expensive items. So, it's often played in high-end stores. Second, pop music boosts mood with its upbeat rhythm, which encourages sudden purchases. This type of music is suitable for casual retail stores. Jazz music is often played in boutique stores since its smooth and relaxing feel keeps customers shopping longer. Lastly, dance music can make customers shop more quickly and spend less time in a store. Therefore, this type of music is beneficial for fast-food restaurants. As I explained today, each genre creates unique purchasing behaviors, and business owners use them strategically to increase sales.
